Arrest made in stabbing death

MADISON — Rodney A. Jenkins, 33, of Madison was charged Tuesday with armed violence in the stabbing death of another Madison man Friday.

Billy Ray Edmond, 28, of the 700 block of West Madison Street was found collapsed early Friday evening in his backyard and was pronounced dead at 7:50 p.m. He had been stabbed in the chest and abdomen.

Jenkins turned himself in to the Madison County Sheriff's Department in Edwardsville on Monday afternoon.

He was charged in a warrant issued Tuesday afternoon by the Madison County State's Attorney's Office and was arraigned before Circuit Judge Andy Matosian, who set a bond of $200,000.

The case is still under investigation, said Madison Police Chief Charlie Brickick, and he said additional charges may be filed.

The stabbing is believed to have occurred at another location, authorities said. After being stabbed, the victim apparently staggered to his yard before collapsing.

Lost in a sea of weeds

City-inspector calls overgrown field 'a hole in the system'

By Mike Myers

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Ed and Ruth Courtwright have a seaside view when they sit out in their front yard these days.

Unfortunately, the sea they face is one of head-high weeds.

About 16½ acres of weeds line the northeast side of Sinclair Avenue in North Granite. They are home to mosquitoes, chiggers, ticks, frogs, snakes and a host of other critters — including a pack of wild dogs that has given the city Sanitation Department fits.

Only a shallow drainage ditch separates the field from the street — a fact that scares resident Debbie Melroy to death.

"Little kids can just wander in there and get lost," she said. "You'd never find them. It's really a hazard."

Keith Melton, a 13-year-old who has spent almost all his life on Sinclair, said he and his friend Patrick Jarman, 3½, used to catch frogs in the field, but weeds are too tall and thick this year.

"I might have been in there once or twice this year, but now they're too big," he said. Also, "My grandmother said not to go in there anymore."

His 7-year-old sister Amber Parey just looked at the weeds and said, "No way."

The Courtwrights, who have lived on Sinclair for 40 years, said the field was tolerable when it was planted with soybeans. But for the last three summers, they said, nothing has grown there but weeds.

"This year is the worst ever," Ruth Courtwright said. "I guess they've had three years without anybody bothering them to get really big."

The residents of Sinclair Avenue said the city should do something about the problem.

City Inspector Vince Scrum agreed. The field is in an area zoned residential, so city law requires it be kept neat and trimmed. Under the law it's treated as a huge vacant lot.

A warning was sent to the owner, Charles Pejajovich of Collinsville, on July 30. Scrum said there was no response, so a citation was mailed to Pejajovich on Wednesday.

If there is still no response, Scrum said, a citation would have to be formally served and Pejajovich taken into court where, Scrum would hope, the judge would order Pejajovich to cut the weeds and maybe order a fine.

A reporter also could not locate Pejajovich for comment Wednesday.

In the meantime, Scrum said, there is not a lot the city can do: "I guess it's a hole in the system."

He said the Sanitation Department, in similar situations with vacant lots, will cut the weeds itself and either bill the owner or file a lien against the property for the cost.

KEITH MELTON and his sister Amber Parey stand at the edge of the overgrown field across from their home on Sinclair Avenue.

"But, even if I had the equipment and the manpower, which I don't, this one is just too big," Scrum said.

He estimated, based on the field's size and overgrown condition, it would take his workers 48 hours to clear it. The department bills at $75 an hour. Based just on size, Scrum said it would cost at least $1,300 to have someone else cut it.

Scrum said he isn't sure if there is a legal way to contract for someone to work on property the city doesn't own. If there is, he said, it is unlikely a contractor would bid to do a job based on a lien that might get paid if the property is ever sold.

To pay a contractor up front would require action by the City Council, Scrum said, "and it's hard to get everybody worked up about weeds."

Scrum said he was asking the Madison County Health Department if there are any actions that can be taken based on its threat to public health or safety.

Fourth Ward Alderman Dan Partney, in whose ward the weeds are, said he agreed the sanitation staff doesn't have the manpower to tackle the problem. Partney said he has long advocated hiring a contractor to cut weeds all over the city and then "haul the owners into court and get the money back — that would send them a message."

Partney said his might not be the best solution and that collection of money could be a problem, but, "You'll never find out if you don't try. If you're afraid to test new things you'll never get anything done."

In the meantime, Scrum said, there is a real danger of a young child wandering into the weeds along Sinclair Avenue and getting lost.

"Of course, then everybody'd be worked up," he said. "But it would be too late."

Village says no to new TIF bonds

By Andy Siering

Staff writer

PONTOON BEACH — The Village Board refused Tuesday night to pay $205,000 in bills presented for services performed in Chouteau Trace development.

By a 4-2 tally, the board voted against issuance of tax increment financing (TIF) bonds to pay the bills.

Trustee Bob Douglas, one of the four trustees who voted against the resolution, said he opposed payment of the bills because he felt the village was getting over its head into debt.

The village has already issued $1.5 million in 17-year bonds to pay for Chouteau Trace. Those voting against the measure were Douglas, Irene Karlich, Loren Madison and Marvin Ribbing. Bob Abel and Lou Whitsell voted for it.

First payment on the bonds comes due next May, Douglas said. "We've got about $250,000 in payments and by the time they come due we'll only have about $90,000 to pay on it," he said.

"Somebody's got to be responsible," Douglas said.

Madison echoed Douglas' comments. "I don't think the TIF district needs any more debt," he said.

In other action, the board tabled an ordinance amending its library ordinance, passed in March 1989. The amendment would have made the village liable for maintaining and improving the library and would have created a library district to support it with tax money.

The current Pontoon Beach library is a volunteer library operated with donations of time (See PONTOON, Page 8A)

County OKs loan to Granite firm

By John Millazzo

Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — A Granite City manufacturer will be expanding operations and adding employees with the help of a low-interest loan approved by the Madison County Board on Wednesday.

The board approved a recommendation by the county's grants committee that a 3 percent, five-year loan of $150,000 be provided for Gateway Packaging Co. Inc., 2165 Benton Ave.

Committee member Rudy Pope, D-Bethalto, said the company had previously had a $70,000 low-interest loan from the county and plans to expand its work force from 11 full-time jobs to 20 within two years.

Under the terms of the agreement, the company has said at least half of the new jobs will be filled by qualified low-income/moderate-income county residents.

Company officials Wednesday declined to comment on the loan or the expansion plans. In the past, Gateway Packaging has been mentioned in conjunction with plans for development of a plastic recycling center at the site of the former Union Starch Plant in West Granite.

Plans there also include River City Plastic Recycling and PVO Foods Inc. The planned center would include a recycling facility and manufacturers who would use the recycled plastic to make new plastic items.

Pistol fired, man nabbed

Terry W. Spivey, 27, of the 1900 block of Madison Avenue was arrested Aug. 10 and charged with aggravated assault in connection with an incident at the Tip-Top Tavern, 1746 State St.

Police said they responded to a call about shots being fired at the tavern at about 1:30 a.m. and found Spivey on the parking lot bleeding from a head wound.

Police said witnesses said an altercation began between Spivey and Arthur N. Corrie, 35, of the 1700 block of Cleveland Boulevard. Corrie and a witness said Spivey pulled a small pistol on Corrie.

The altercation spilled out onto the parking lot, and Spivey allegedly fired a shot at Corrie, who knocked Spivey to the ground. Corrie said a cut he received above the right eye was from the gunshot, but a doctor who examined him said the wound did not look like it had been caused by a bullet.

Spivey was charged with aggravated assault, unlawful use of a weapon and not having a firearm owner's identification card.

Both men were treated and released at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Found in attic, arrested

A Granite City man was booked for battery after he allegedly struck a woman with a broom handle and punched her in the eye.

Alfred Kerry Nolan, 25, of the 2800 block of Denver Street was charged at 12:33 a.m. Aug. 11 when he was found hiding in the attic at the residence of the victim.

Police first went to an address in the 2900 block of W. 20th Street and talked with Janet Wells, 23, who said Nolan was at her residence in the 2500 block of Denver when he became upset, struck her on the head with a broom handle and hit her in the right eye.

She suffered redness and swelling to the head and eye and also some bruising to the eye area, an officer noted.

Patrolman Ken Dowdy returned with the victim to her home. A closet door was open in a bedroom and clothes in the closet were pushed to one side, exposing a set of stairs to the attic.

When Nolan failed to comply with requests to come down the stairs, the officer climbed into the attic and found him hiding behind a divider wall, authorities said.

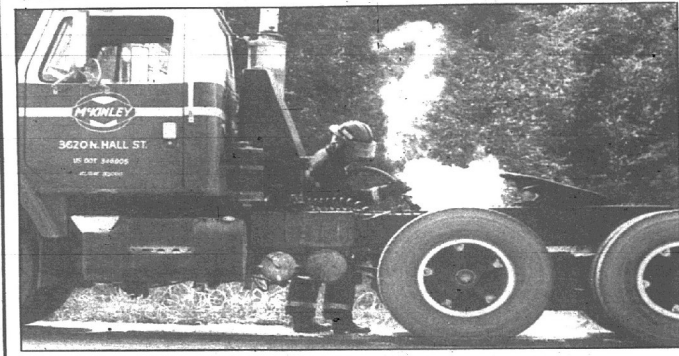

Nolan was arrested and later released on bail, pending a hearing.

Jury urges further probe of death

BELLEVEILLE — A St. Clair County coroner's inquest jury on Wednesday recommended that police continue to investigate the execution-style death of a Granite City man.

Ricky J. Muckenstrum, 32, was found dead July 11 in a field on Bend Road near Illinois Route 203 in Stites Township by two area residents. Muckenstrum had been shot once in the eye, stabbed in the neck and slashed on the abdomen, police said Wednesday.

Police believe Muckenstrum was killed at about 4:20 p.m. They would not say whether Muckenstrum was killed elsewhere and his body was dumped in the field.

Detectives with the Illinois State Police's Division of Criminal Investigation testified they had two suspects in the killing, but refused to disclose any more details.

According to testimony given at the inquest, Muckenstrum was last seen with the suspects in Granite City hours before he was killed. Police believe he was killed after an argument about money.

According to St. Clair County Coroner Rick Stone, Muckenstrum's blood-alcohol level at the time of his death was more than four times the intoxication level of 0.10 percent.

Relatives said Muckenstrum was unemployed at the time. He was not married, but is survived by two children, a 2-year-old son and a 13-year-old daughter.

Each additional family member, $3,959 a year, $330 a month or $77 a week.

Children from households that meet federal guidelines are eligible for free or reduced-price meals.

Application forms are being sent by many schools to homes, along with a letter to parents or guardians.

To apply for free or reduced-price benefits, households must complete the attached application as soon as possible, sign it and return it to the school.

Additional copies of the application form are available at the principal's office in each school. Households should answer all applicable questions on the form. An application which does not contain all the required information cannot be processed and approved by the school. The required information is:

FOOD STAMP/AFDC (aid to families with dependent children) household.
If a household currently receives food stamps or aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) for their children, they only have to list the child(ren)'s name and food stamp or AFDC case number and sign the application.

ALL OTHER HOUSEHOLDS: If a household's income is at or below the level shown on the income scale, children are eligible for free or reduced-price meals or for milk.

Households must provide the following information: (1) the names of all household members; (2) the Social Security number of the primary wage earner or the adult household member signing the application; (3) the amount of each household member's new receives, where it comes from (wages, child support, etc.); and how often it is received; (4) the signature of an adult household member.

The information on the application may be verified by school or other officials at any time during the school year.

If income information is provided and children are approved for meal benefits, households must tell the school when their household income increases $50 or more per month ($600 per year) or when their household size decreases.

If a food stamp or AFDC case number was listed, the household must tell the school when they no longer receive food stamps or AFDC for their child.

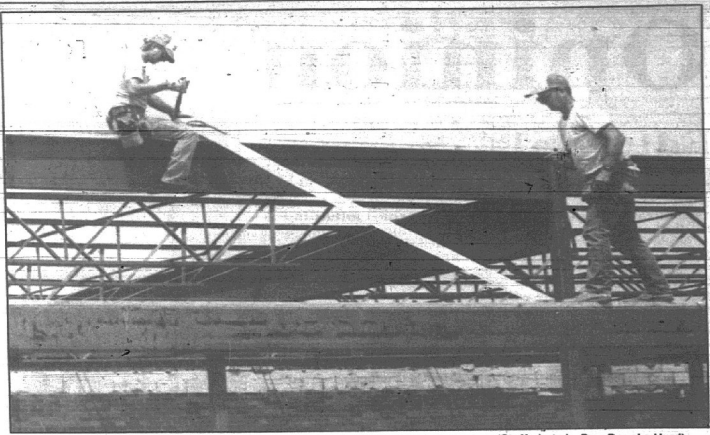

Households may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If a household is not eligible now but has a decrease in household income, an increase in household size, or a household member becomes unemployed, they should fill out an application at that time.

In certain cases, foster children are eligible for meal or milk benefits regardless of household income. If a household has foster children living with them and they wish to apply for meal or milk benefits for them, they should complete the application.

Households dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss it with the school. Households also have the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the school.

In the operation of child-feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color, national origin, age, sex or handicap.

A spokesman said, "If you believe you have been discriminated against, write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington D.C. 20250."

Phone bills now easier to review

GRANITE CITY — Illinois Bell customers this month will have a new look, designed to make them easier to read and understand.

The bills also provide detailed information on customers' local calling habits so customers can easily see how their phone usage affects the bill.

The introduction of the new bill format coincides with the first bills that reflect pay-per-call charges in most areas outside of northeastern Illinois.

The new bill format places all summary information on the first page, making it possible for customers to see at a glance what the previous bill amount was, their last payment, any adjustments, previous balance, current charges and the total amount due.

Blue and beige shading and bold type are used to highlight this information. In most cases, fewer pages will be necessary because the new bill is larger, measuring 10 by 6 inches.

A new level of detail is provided in the "Detailed Charges" pages. Customers billed under the pay-per-call system will be able to note the number of calls they made during peak hours and in periods in which 10 percent and 40 percent discounts were in effect. They also will be able to see the total minutes billed for each of those three periods.

Calls also are grouped by local calling area and by "distance" bands which determine the charges for phone calls.

"Customers will be able to use this information as a tool in controlling their phone bill," said Mary McCormick, Illinois Bell community relations manager.

Ill. Bell is a subsidiary of Ameritech, an equal opportunity firm serving Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin and other information-related businesses.

The new bill format is the same one being adopted by all of the Ameritech Bell companies.

The registration fee will be $8.50 per student. Registration can be done by calling the Tri-City Red Cross Chapter office at 452-7184 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Registration will end Aug. 22.

Glennon benefit Aug. 18-19

The fifth annual Monsignor Sullivan Memorial Benefit Weekend will be held Saturday and Sunday at Epiphany Church. The two-day event, sponsored by Epiphany parish, benefits Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital.

The weekend begins at 5 p.m. Aug. 18 with a memorial Mass at Epiphany, 6596 Stunley, followed by a free pizza party in the parish hall. A picnic from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Aug. 19 at Lindenwood Park rounds out the weekend.

Varied athletic activities will be featured at the picnic. Hot dogs, hamburgers, beer and soda will be served at a nominal cost. Lindenwood Park is at Jamieson and Pernod.

Donations to Cardinal Glennon from the benefit have totaled more than $7,500 the past four years. The funds this year will go to the hospital's Monsignor Lloyd A. Sullivan Pediatric Research Institute.

Sullivan, who died in 1984, served as pastor of Epiphany for more than 25 years. He was a key figure in the founding of Cardinal Glennon and a long-term member of the hospital's board of governors, said Jim Przada at (314) 781-5516.

Skin care being emphasized here

GRANITE CITY — Not long ago, skin was thought of simply as a covering that keeps us together. But dermatological research has shown that skin is much more than just a barrier to the outside.

Skin is the largest organ of our bodies. It is an important part of our immune system, triggering our body's defenses against bacteria and viruses. It acts as a thermostat, helping the body maintain a constant temperature through sweat glands and dilation of the blood vessels near the skin's surface.

Yet even though we know how essential the skin is to health and well-being, it is often abused or ignored.

St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City, is starting a new program to help nurses take a skin-deep look at their patients.

Through the new program, one nurse on each nursing floor is designated as the skin specialist for the floor.

SEMCC's enterostomal therapist, Anita Adams, registered nurse, has provided the nurses with special training in skin care through a three-hour in-service training session.

She will meet with the skin-care nurses monthly, providing cases and receive further education on skin care. She also will serve as a resource for the nurses, helping with new dressings and noting potential problems.

Nationally, 3 to 5 percent of patients develop skin problems while in a hospital, Adams said. "Eighty-eight percent make up approximately 15 percent of the average hospital population."

High-risk patients include people who are in bed for extended periods of time. Usually, they are older people, paraplegics or quadriplegics. However, anyone whose mobility is severely compromised can develop skin problems.

"The most effective cure is to prevent the problem in the first place," Adams said.

"With proper early intervention, we can prevent most skin problems. The skin-care nurses will spend one day each week assessing high-risk patients and writing treatment plans if needed."

In preventing and treating skin problems, nurses reduce pressure, friction and moisture on the affected area and assess the nutritional status of the patient.

Initial in-service training includes the stages skin ulcers go through, how wounds heal, what steps can be taken to promote healing and what prevents healing.

"In the future, we will be discussing all the different types of dressings and skin problems as they relate to nutrition and new types of mattresses," Adams said.

Both are former standout athletes in high school and college. Dr. Whalen had a promising career in college baseball before an injury ended it. In high school, he earned 14 varsity letters in four sports.

Dr. Anderson was a four-year, all-conference basketball center in college, twice a first-team Academic All-American and the recipient of an NCAA postgraduate scholarship. In his junior year, he was honored with the Emil Liston Award by the NAIA as the nation's top student/basketball athlete.

Originally from St. Paul, Dr. Anderson was raised in Kansas City, Mo. He and his wife, Joella, have a year-old son, Joseph.

Dr. Whalen was born in Taylorville and raised in Morrisonville. He and his wife, Debora, have three children, Matthew, 11, Robin, 7, and Anthony, 4.

with SEMCC's commitment to excellence of care in a Christian setting, the doctors said in a jointly issued statement.

Dr. Anderson earned his M.D. degree from Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, Baltimore, before five years of specialized training in orthopedic surgery at the Mayo Graduate School of Medicine in Rochester, Minn.

Dr. Whalen earned his Ph.D. degree in anatomy at the University of South Dakota and an M.D. degree, with honors, from Southern Illinois University School of Medicine. During his specialized training in orthopedic surgery at the Mayo Clinic, he received the Mark B. Coventry Research Award.

Dr. Whalen has taught at the graduate level and frequently contributed to leading medical journals. Dr. Anderson has made presentations to the American Academy of Orthopedic

Ruthless foe menace to all

Mobilization of American and other armed forces is proceeding rapidly in Saudi Arabia to halt aggression by Iraq, which overran its neighbor, Kuwait, on Aug. 2. It is the biggest U.S. military deployment since the Vietnam war.

If shooting begins, both sides could end up inflicting and suffering many casualties. But the two sides' greatly differing attitudes toward the value of human life help explain why we are the forces of good.

Saddam Hussein's rise to power has been merciless, with not only opponents slain but also those perceived as possible future foes. He has used poison gas against Iran and even against residents of Iraq. He never hesitates to lie about his intentions and he secretly houses and equips terrorists.

His grip on his own country is strong, but not due to popularity. To insult the president (Hussein) is subject to the death penalty without trial, and the defining of insults is not limited by any logic, fairness or restraint.

Except through war or moral persuasion, it is not possible for one nation to "correct" another, to insist on keeping a legal defense mechanism open to citizens accused of disloyalty. But it is possible to note the differences between countries and to hold transgressors accountable to global opinion.

Even before August 1990, the civilized world could and did judge Iraq and found it sadly lacking in honor, kindness, objectivity and orderly processes.

There never was a real basis for trust and now there never can be. We pray for peace, but cannot be fully content as long as Hussein has such excessive authority and armament.

Improve rental conditions

At an earlier time in Quad City area history, one of the mayors often said, "This is what we want to do. Tell us how we can do it legally." That's the kind of challenge Mayor Von Dee Cruse has given Granite City's legal staff regarding tenant-landlord relationships.

We urge those attorneys to find a way. As was outlined in Wednesday's Journal, landlords' property must meet structural, plumbing and electrical standards as well as rules on weeds, trash and junk, but landlords cannot inspect renters' maintenance of apartments, nor evict tenants for cause in less than 30 or 60 days.

Some sort of "bill of rights" clearly is needed for conscientious landlords. And because some landlords contribute to deplorable living conditions, renters' rights may also need to be enhanced. The current "ground rules" are inadequate to assure high compliance with basic health, safety, cleanliness and appearance goals.

Until the existing municipal laws are improved, enforcement will be hampered and many youngsters and adults will face needless risks and deprivation.

Nurses upgrading skills

Expanded nurse-scholarships are one of the responses to the growing need for registered nurses, and there have been happy results at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Outstanding grant applicants are being attracted, including SEMC nurse assistants.

The past six scholarship winners are employed at SEMC, having chosen the medical center after receiving their nursing degrees. They are winners—highly motivated and eager to bring their knowledge back to this community to benefit others. We welcome the resources.

Of oil, JFK and stop signs, not necessarily in that order

Last week, on the way to the bank so I could take out a second mortgage to fill up the gas tank, it occurred to me that there must be other reasons besides the Iraqi crisis that would cause oil prices to skyrocket.

Greed was the only one I could come up with.

What else could be the motive behind the trend toward the highest fuel prices we've seen in our nation's history? Experts say we have enough oil in reserve to cover us through a crisis and enough resources so that the loss of Iraqi oil would not be felt for years.

No, the only reason I can come up with is that the oil distributors look for any excuse they can to jack up prices. That, to me, is greed. Plain and simple. And I hope Attorney General Neil Hartigan's pledge to get to the bottom of what he calls price fixing is so much campaign rhetoric.

Speaking of the latter, Hartigan or his emissary, Lieutenant governor candidate Jim Burns, have been hot on the campaign trail and have made it to Granite City twice in recent months. We've talked to them and learned much.

However, we've yet to hear from Secretary of State Jim Edgar, the Republican gubernatorial candidate. Could Madison County be off limits except during the Lincoln Day Dinner? We hope not. That's in February, three months from the fall election.

Let's hear from ya, Jim.

And here's something to ponder: If Ricky White's account of the shooting of John F. Kennedy has any truth to it, then George Bush should be made to answer a few questions.

White is the man who has stirred the pot in recent days over the assassination of JFK, claiming that his father, a Dallas policeman, was involved in a conspiracy to shoot the President. It was supposedly hatched from his gun, not Lee Harvey Oswald's, that killed Kennedy.

The conspiracy angle places the CIA in the limelight, and the agency has been quick to separate itself from the issue, saying that White's father never had any connection to it.

But ... if the White account holds up, our current President would almost have to know more than he's been asked.

Bush headed the CIA in 1976 during the Ford administration.

Granite City is to be congratulated on the overhaul of Rock Road on the west end. It's a beautiful piece of craftsmanship, the 30 mph speed limit makes sense, and best of all, there are no stop signs between West 20th Street and Route 3.

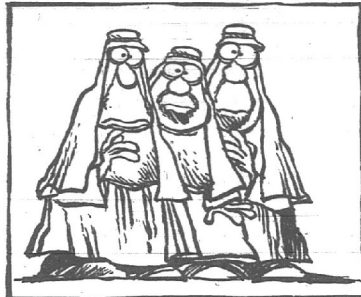

Which brings to mind what I felt was the quote of the week. One that I happen to agree with. If ever a town was weighed down by its number of stop signs, it's this one.

The quote is from Mayor Von Dee Cruse: "The city has spent a bunch of money on traffic studies in the past. But none of them have ever been followed. I think (Alderman Emerald) Dawes, chairman of the Traffic Committee) should pick out one he likes and we'll just follow it."

Knowing the mayor, that was more of a barb than an advisory. But if this city is really serious about traffic flow, it will make the issue a priority instead of a joke.

Budget amendment closer than ever

Our guest

This guest commentary is by Paul Simon, the junior United States senator from Illinois, who formerly represented the Granite City area in the Illinois House and Illinois Senate.

There is good news and bad news in the U.S. House vote on constitutional amendment to require the federal government to balance its budget.

The bad news is that this much-needed discipline, which the nation unfortunately requires, did not pass. It needed a two-thirds vote to carry. It received 279 of the needed 286 votes.

But in 1982, a somewhat similar proposal received only 236 votes, far short of the needed votes. The good news is that next year we will probably have the votes to pass the proposal in the House, and my sense is that we have the votes in the Senate.

I am the chief sponsor of the Senate bill, which came out of the Judiciary Committee recently by a decisive 11-3 vote, the widest margin ever.

If both houses could act favorably, the necessary states would ratify this proposal quickly, in my opinion, and then we would suddenly see a drop in interest rates of approximately 2 percent, according to an informal estimate by one New York financial market specialist.

What would that mean? First, since the federal government owes $3 trillion, if you reduce interest rates by 2 percent, you save $60 billion a year. Because of multi-year bond offerings, that is not saved the first year, but quickly the savings would be more than that.

Second, when interest is reduced, American industry is stimulated. Recently, two Chrysler officials visited my office and said that on $1 billion borrowed by Chrysler for a research plant, they had to pay 12 and 3/4 percent interest, while a similar borrowing by their Japanese competitor, Nissan, was at 4.5 percent.

"That high interest rate is caused in large part by the deficit," they told me. "Congress and the President are making it difficult for us to compete with the rest of the world. Americans are losing jobs because of our high interest rates."

Third, when interest rates drop, home construction goes up. When we build more homes, not only do we create a better quality of life for those who have new homes, we open up the homes they leave. That especially helps young families struggling to buy their first homes.

One of the reasons for the disgrace of homelessness is that we simply haven't built enough homes. If we don't have enough homes to contain a growing population, who gets housing? Those of us who can afford it. And many of those who can't are in our streets.

Fourth, farmers and small-business people are helped. One excessive cost of farming and small business today is high interest rates.

Fifth, when interest rates go down, the stock market will take off. Add that to the business, farm and industrial growth and you will see a surge of income for the federal government, reducing the deficit further.

Finally, of course, all citizens benefit. People who pay house mortgages and make car payments will be helped. People who borrow money will be aided. More jobs will be created, and the trade deficit will go down.

All of this is good, but it didn't happen, though it came agonizingly close to happening.

The financial markets and the world are waiting for us to face our problems. They do not understand why we insist on borrowing from our children and future generations. They do not understand why we insist on spending a higher and higher percentage of our tax dollars on interest rather than goods and services.

Next time I hope we will do the right thing for the country.

Freedom of speech should not include trashy recordings

To the editor:

Ted Koppel did a (network, TV) show on freedom of speech a few weeks ago.

There were lawyers there defending the band Two Live Crew. They discussed what rights we have in freedom of speech, and what rights we do not have.

What is freedom of speech? My letter is not about Two Live Crew. It is about anyone trying to tell us they have a right to put trash out to our children and to our society.

They take these issues to court. Some issues go all the way to the Supreme Court. Nine men, or women, try to solve these problems. Then they try to tell us what is right or wrong, morally speaking.

Can you tell whose morality they are going by? There is the morality of men and of God. In Washington, they pass laws on the standards of men, not on the standards of God.

This kind of trash is in our society because we have taken God out of government. Now we have it in our homes and in the minds of our children.

Our society as a whole must be ungodly. People call this a Christian nation. With this kind of perversion going on, can we call ourselves a Christian nation? Christians follow Jesus, not the ways of men.

When our Founding Fathers put together the Bill of Rights, never in their wildest dreams did they think it would defend such trash. The Founding Fathers put together the Bill of Rights on the standards of what God stands for.

When men obey the laws of God it will bring delight to their hearts. The Lord knows what we need. This is why He gave us His laws to go by.

The Word of God also tells us how we are to speak, and to live our lives out to be what we are.

Do we have the right to allow this trash in our society? Let alone, to make obscene music to sell to children?

People tell us it is not for children. Well, if it is not for children, how can it be OK for adults? We are their examples. They are growing up to be what we are. When we grow from a child to an adult, does this mean we will not have to answer to God?

God tells us to "make every effort to live in peace and to be holy. Without holiness, no one will see the Lord."

This means to separate ourselves from the world. The only way to separate ourselves from the world is to receive Jesus as Saviour. When we do this we will not act like the world. We will act like Jesus. Without Jesus Christ in our lives, we will never enter Heaven.

Pontoon Lions, unsung heroes, helping many blind and deaf

To the editor:

Behold the unsung heroes of the Quad Cities, the Lions of Pontoon Beach. Who are the Lions, and what do they do? They are part of the world's largest service organization, Lions International, 1,300,000 service-minded men and women in 35,000 clubs in over 162 countries or geographical locations of the entire world.

Wait a minute, did he say men and women? That is correct. Lions International was one of the first service organizations to change its constitution and invite women to join its ranks as equal partners.

Just a little to the west of us is the Venice Lions Club, whose president is Mrs. Josephine Odum and whose membership is 95 percent female. Our state capital, Springfield, boasts of a Lions club that is entirely female. But let's get back to these unsung heroes of Pontoon Beach.

For over 15 years now, the truly needy of Granite City, Pontoon Beach, Mitchell and their townships, when they have no place to turn to, know that they can turn to the Lions and Lionsesses of Pontoon Beach for that pair of eyeglasses or hearing aid that just may help them become independent, or perhaps see that chalkboard the teacher is writing on or hear what the teacher is saying a little better.

According to this year's president, "We do not limit our help to eyeglasses and hearing aids. However, the help that we can give is limited by the funds we are able to raise in our communities."

What else do the Lions of Pontoon Beach do? In the past 15 years they have donated over $75,000 directly to individuals to other service organizations, and to Lions projects which benefit our communities directly and indirectly.

What are these Lions projects? Just to name a few:

"The Lions of Pontoon Beach, by their pledges, supported the building of a $5-million eye research center, the largest in the Midwest, located at the University of Illinois in Champaign."

"We also supported the building of a padded exercise running track at the Illinois School for the Visually Impaired in Jacksonville."

"Two weeks each summer, we provide supervised camping for handicapped children at Camp Little Giant."

"We also sponsor a program for schools to help in the struggle against drugs, called the Lions Quest Program."

"Every Christmas we collect and distribute over 100 baskets of food for the needy."

"These are but a few of our many activities. Thanks in large part to our club's Ed Warner, we were able in 1989 to supply eye tissue for transplants which would give the gift of sight to over 50 blind people.

So, you see, the Lions are truly heroes in our community.

And they're off! Little cars are big business at RC track

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — If real cars went this fast relative to their size, they would zip around at about 800 m.p.h.

If real cars took the kind of flying leaps and tumbles these take, it would turn them into shapeless lumps.

We are at K&C R.C. Track, 1739 Pontoon Road, where radio-controlled-car enthusiasts gather six nights a week to test their skills against each other. And they're off!

The track is owned by Steve Kraus and Jack Cox, both of Granite City. The two men opened the business earlier this year.

These cars whir rather than roar, their battery packs quietly powering them around the 1/4th mile dirt track into steeply banked curves and over jumps called whoopidoos.

The cars, which have a weight limit of 42 ounces, are steered by means of two-channel radios that control direction and speed.

Spinouts and cars tumbling end over end are routine, and volunteer spotters stationed at intervals around the track quickly jump up to put the cars back on their tires.

Often a car will come flying over a whoopidoos and not hit the ground again for 10 feet. Sometimes it will tumble end over end and keep going.

Crashes are frequent — between cars and between cars and the ribbed, flexible conduit that demarcates the off-road course.

"I've had a lot of people say they feel like they're at Tri-City Speedway," said Kraus.

The idea is to make as many laps as possible within four minutes. The car with the most laps wins the heat, and it goes on to race against the winners of other heats.

As many as 50 cars may race on a given evening.

Prizes include trophies and cash.

There are two types of racing at K&C: course races and oval track. The latter is easier and is favored by beginners, Kraus said.

"If you hit 14 laps (on the off-track course) you're really doing something," he said. On the oval configuration, 40 laps is about tops.

If you put one of these cars on a flat, straight surface it can reach 45 m.p.h., he said. "It's amazing that a battery powered car can go that fast. There's sophisticated gearing involved."

There are six classes of driver and about nine different types of radio-controlled vehicles, which include trucks, dune buggies, sprint cars, two-wheel and four-wheel drive, plastic and metal bodies.

The drivers range from 8 years to retirement age, Kraus said. "That's the neat thing about this hobby," he said. "It belongs to anybody who wants to get into it."

It costs anywhere from $3.50 to $7 to race at K&C. Spectators are not charged.

The real expense is in equipment. While you could get yourself a car, some batteries and a control radio for under $200, some people have as much as $5,000 invested in equipment — $1,000 in batteries alone, Kraus said.

But, said Kraus, "A guy with a lot of money doesn't necessarily do as well in this sport. It takes time. I'm a testimonial to that."

I sell the parts they buy, and I'm terrible!" Those parts include just about everything a regular car uses — titanium struts, cast-aluminum wheels, shock absorbers, tiny tie rods and universal joints the size of peas.

Between races, contestants work on their cars, replacing parts and batteries. Some bring car tables to set up as worktables. Others take advantage of an indoor "pit" area.

The race action is called blow-by-blow over a loudspeaker.

IT'S OVER THE TOP for this truck.

A computer with a special program logs each lap for each car, and a printout is available afterward so racers can check their lap times. The cars tend to slow down toward the end of a race because the batteries wear down.

The track is open noon through 10 p.m. Racing starts at 7 p.m. every day but Saturday and Sunday, when it starts at noon. It is closed Mondays.

Oval track races are run Thursday through Saturday. The more difficult off-road races are run the other nights.

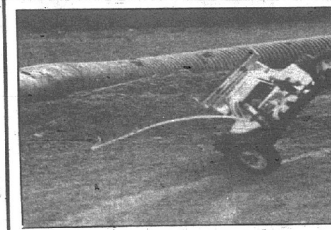

Kraus, 36, spent 18 years in the restaurant management business for several chains before he and Cox pooled their resources to open K&C. He loves his new business, which he says enables him to "make money and play with toys at the same time."

In fact, the business's motto is "Our business is fun."

Area singers, dancers joined the stars on Opera stage this summer

"Feed me. FEED ME!" No, that's not my newsroom computer pointing out the wide open spaces in an upcoming edition. That's Audrey II, the hungry, fast-growing plant featured in the musical play, Little Shop of Horrors.

This weekend, the final performances of Little Shop will close out the Municipal Opera's summer 1990 season, a year in which the Opera regained much of its former sparkle.

DATING BACK TO 1919 (after the amphitheater was built in 1917), the Municipal Theater Association filled a cultural need in its early years. Even in this video era, it has an important, positive mission.

Time was when the 12,000 seats were filled throughout a 12- or 13-week summer of weekly shows. The Opera employed large, permanent singing and dancing troupes that helped perform all of each season's shows.

That tradition changed radically in the 1980s with the scheduling of many packaged, touring productions.

THIS SEASON provided a more or less happy blend, opening with a couple of packaged plays, West Side Story and Jesus Christ Superstar, and ending with five shows utilizing extensive St. Louis area involvement.

Bye, Bye, Birdie — Cinderella on Ice — Brigadoon — No, No, Nanette — and Little Shop.

We had a chance to see only the last two, Nanette and Little Shop, but the reviewers liked most of the presentations, with the exception of Brigadoon.

VAN JOHNSON, a lifelong MGM studio motion picture actor with vaudeville experience, starred with Gene Kelly in the movie Brigadoon many years ago.

Johnson didn't have as demanding a singing and dancing role in No, No, No on the Muny stage, and he may have had a bit of help (a tiny ear phone) in remembering his line.

But it was interesting to see

Bill Winter

him, now white-haired, in person.

THE BEST SINGING and dancing of the evening was by Carol Lawrence, who used to appear often on television, and by a couple of talented men we hadn't seen before, Lara Teeter and Jim Walton.

Written in 1920, Nanette introduced two hit songs, "I Want to Be Happy" and "Tea for Two."

Little Shop spotlighted Adrienne Zmed, a T.J. Hooker TV series star who has a good singing voice, and Edie Bracken. The last time I saw Bracken was when he played opposite Betty Hutton in the old movie, Miracle of Morgan's Creek.

ALTHOUGH THE OUTDOOR season will end Sunday, the Municipal Opera will sponsor an indoor season at the Fox Theater.

Starting this fall, the Muny/Fox will present Carol Lawrence's former husband, Robert Goulet, in The Fantasticks, followed by Cats, the Music of Andrew Lloyd Webber, Big River, Grand Hotel and Ziegfeld.

Completing that season will be a sure hit in this region, Meet Me in St. Louis.

WHAT'S AHEAD IN 1991? Probably only eight or nine weeks will be utilized next summer, but the Municipal Opera staff is accepting input from the public on 19 possible programs.

"Giddies" on the wish list include Franz Lehár's The Merry Widow, Gilbert and Sullivan's The Mikado and H.M.S. Pinafore, Noel Coward's Bitter Sweet, George Gershwin's Girl Crazy, Cole Porter's Kiss Me, Kate and Rodgers and Hart's Jump.

Slightly more modern, these dozen musicals also are being considered for '91:

Stephen Sondheim's Follies, Lerner and Loewe's My Fair Lady, Irving Berlin's Call Me Madam, Frank Loesser's Guys and Dolls, Adler and Ross's Damn Yankees, Charles Blackwell's The Tap Dance Kid, Jules Styne's Sugar, Comden, Green and Styne's Bells Are Ringing, Jerry Herman's Mame, Cy Coleman's Sweet Charity and Little Me, and Bob Fosse's Dancin'.

THE MARCH OF TIME unavoidably takes a heavy toll on musicals, although I still like last century's Gilbert and Sullivan plays. (A jazz version of their Mikado is being evaluated as well as a 1990 version of Pinafore.)

Music and dance numbers never become entirely outdated, but the dialogue can be troublesome. I'm not sure what percentage of the audience at Nanette understood the references to mah-jongg, an old board game.

On the other hand, most of the older plays are suitable for the whole family, while some of the more recent Broadway imports wouldn't qualify for a film "PG" rating.

ALTHOUGH MOVIES, TV and concerts have many stars familiar to most of the public, it still one of the Municipal Opera's strengths that it can show you celebrities acting, singing and moving about, as close to you as your binoculars.

Among those who may be lured to the Forest Park stage next summer are Richard Harris, Scott Bakula, Sharon Casady, Shirley Jones, Eydie Gorme, Steve Lawrence, Cleo Laine, Rue McClanahan, Diana Rigg, John Saxon, and the Somers, Ted Danson and Richard Chamberlain.

Plus, Michael Crawford, Valerie Harper, Louie Anderson, Julie Bowen, Mary Hart, Mariette Hartley, Pee-wee Herman, Joe Higgins, Donna McKechnie, "Arlene" Schneider, Tracy Ullman and Lee Remick.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

If a person is injured and he is able to show that another party was negligent, this may not be sufficient to establish liability. The person who was harmed will also have to demonstrate that the wrongdoer's negligence was a "proximate cause" of the injury. A "proximate cause" is one which produces the injury through a "continuous sequence of events" with no subsequent independent act causing the harm. A recent case will help illustrate this requirement of proximate cause.

In this matter, a woman was hospitalized for surgery. She was placed on an operating room table, and an independently employed nurse knocked over an IV pole with a glass bottle attached. The bottle landed on the woman's mouth and caused dental injuries. The victim sued the hospital and alleged negligence on its part in using a glass IV bottle rather than a soft plastic bag.

The hospital attempted to have the case dismissed on the ground that the use of the glass IV bottle was not a "proximate cause" of the plaintiff's injuries. The hospital argued that the independently employed nurse was an "intervening cause." It felt the independent act of the nurse in knocking over the pole was the proximate cause of the injury rather than any negligence which could be attributed to the hospital.

The Court agreed with the hospital's position and granted a summary judgment in favor of the medical facility. The Appellate Court affirmed the decision of the trial court, and noted that the proximate cause was the independent act of the nurse rather than the hospital's use of the glass bottle. The Court went on to state that even if the hospital were negligent here, its negligence in using a glass bottle rather than a plastic bag merely furnished a condition which made the injury possible. It was the independent act of the nurse in knocking over the pole which was the "proximate cause" of the injury. Thus, there was no liability on the part of the hospital.

'House arrest' will ease detention home crowding

By John Milazzo
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Overcrowding at the Madison County Juvenile Detention Home is expected to be eased by a $98,599 grant approved by the County Board on Wednesday.

The grant will allow "house arrest" as an alternative to the juvenile detention home.

The Illinois Juvenile Justice Commission identified the county for inclusion in the commission's "Alternatives to Detention" grants program.

Detention Home Superintendent Steve Bowker said the program was established to assist counties that either have no detention home or have detention facilities that are overcrowded.

Bowker said about half the money will be used to hire two officers to monitor juveniles on quality for a "house arrest" program that is expected to reduce the flow of juveniles through the detention home by as much as 20 percent.

The program will allow certain youths, who would otherwise be required to stay in the detention home, to spend court-supervised time in their own homes.

That in turn will allow the county to accept more out-of-county youths at the home, he said. The payments for boarding the non-county youths, primarily from counties that do not have juvenile detention facilities, have amounted to about $133,000 per year and have helped the home stay within its budget, Bowker said.

The home is under an Illinois Department of Corrections order to upgrade inadequate services.

But quick solutions have eluded the Madison County Board, and those county officials currently are occupied with the construction of a new county administration building and the planned renovation of the court-house, Bowker said.

County reverses, doubles fee

By John Milazzo
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — The Madison County Board on Wednesday reversed its June 20 decision against doubling the truck-tipping fee charged to waste haulers for dumping in landfills located in the county.

Members of the board's environmental committee recommended, voted 17-10 not to increase the fee from 22.5 cents per cubic yard to 45 cents, the maximum allowed under state law.

The board voted 17-11 Wednesday to double the fee.

Members of the board's environmental control committee had earlier recommended the increase as a means of generating funds to add to a grant program that is used to assist county municipalities and townships in meeting more stringent state laws regarding solid-waste management.

In June, committee chairman

Dick Worthen urged the board to approve the increase to block the village of Roxana from implementing the fee itself.

A landfill has been annexed into the village and a plan for a proposed 95-acre expansion, approved by Roxana, is now under review by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

The county's 22.5-cent fee, started in 1987, has to date generated over $300,000. But, committee members said, with a major expansion of the Roxana landfill, volume — and revenues from the tipping fee — are likely to increase significantly.

Several board members said the issue was not sufficiently explained to them in June and that they did not realize the potential for a Roxana windfall.

Morris Miles, D-Mitchell, who offered the resolution Wednesday, boosting the fee, had voted against the measure in June.

County Board rules require a previously defeated measure to be reintroduced by someone who had cast a dissenting vote.

County Board member D. Troy said, "I think it's to our benefit to beat (Roxana) to the punch. Roxana wouldn't be using those revenues to provide any grants for Troy or St. Jacob, the areas that I represent."

Dunstan also said the fee increase to haulers should not automatically be translated into an increase for county residents and businesses.

He said costs should stay the same "since they are actually picking up less than they used to" because of a state law that took effect July 1. That law bans disposal of landscape wastes, such as leaves and grass clippings, in landfills.

Dunstan was among those reversing his June "no" vote.

Fred Dalton, D-Collinsville, remained opposed, saying the committee hasn't explained how the increase will be spent.

AFSCME gets wage hike, King day

By John Milazzo
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Madison County employees represented by Local 799 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees received wage hikes and an added holiday in a new three-year contract approved by the County Board on Wednesday.

Key provisions of the contract call for a 40-cent-per-hour wage increase in the first and second years of the contract and the addition of Martin Luther King Day as a paid holiday.

In the 270 county-government employees represented by AFSCME had been working without a contract since Dec. 1, 1989, the start of the county's fiscal year.

and money. Trustee Douglas said Wednesday that the village would be in violation of state law if it passed the ordinance, because no public hearing was held before the original ordinance was passed.

He also said state law stipulates that library boards must have three members, no more and no less. The current board has five members.

In a referendum last year, voters defeated a tax to establish a library district by a 2-1 margin.

"How," Douglas asked, "are we now going to tell the people we're going to take (the money for the library) out of the general fund?"

However, Dalton said there was some concern by members, including board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer, D-Granite City, that some other county union employees already had Martin Luther King Day as a holiday and that withholding it from Local 799 members might create resentment or even potential legal problems.

There had been board members who did not favor the addition of a holiday and instead wanted to exchange an existing annual election day holiday for

Martin Luther King Day.

Among those opposed to the holiday provision were Fred Dalton, D-Collinsville, a member of the county committee that negotiated the contract.

"I just felt like they already have enough holidays. I don't believe many of the people that I represent have as many paid holidays as our people do," Dalton said.

However, Dalton said there was some concern by members, including board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer, D-Granite City, that some other county union employees already had Martin Luther King Day as a holiday and that withholding it from Local 799 members might create resentment or even potential legal problems.

Garden Study holds meeting

The August meeting of the Garden Study Club was held in the home of Marie Oetkin, where refreshments were enjoyed by eight members and one guest, Dawn Hornberger.

The meeting was called to order by President Mary Stonum and the pledge of Allegiance and collect were given.

The members answered roll call by naming the flowers they have which may be successfully dried for framing. Minutes were read by Shirley Stallings, secretary, and the Treasurer's report was given by Bonnie Rutkowski.

A new plan was presented for next year's herb garden at the Old Six Mile Historical Society's Museum, 3279 Maryville Road. Pictures of beautiful herb gardens in Kaskaskia behind the Pierre Menard Home were shown.

A call was made by the president for commemorative stamps to add to the collection which aids the Illinois Audubon Society's Wildlife Sanctuaries.

A "thank you" note was received from Old Six Mile Historical Society.

A demonstration and lesson was given by Stonum on drying, mounting and gluing to felt the straw flowers and other small blooms she had prepared. She then backed the felt with cotton batting and placed the entire project into a picture frame.

Other members present at the meeting were Christine Hornberger, Catherine Kostoff, Helen Meyer and Clara Winter.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mary Kello.

The two-student teams participating in the "hands-on" competition scored top marks on a written exam that tested academic and mechanical knowledge. The written exam is open to all Illinois high school seniors enrolled in automotive technology courses.

One objective of the contest is to encourage mechanically oriented high school students to continue their training in automotive services.

The statewide competition is sponsored jointly by the AAA-Chicago Motor Club and local Chrysler-Plymouth dealers.

Numbers up for area grid teams

Warriors field 117 on 1st day

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Anyone driving by the high school this week during football practice might notice something a little different.

There are football players here, and there are football players there. There are football players seemingly everywhere. On the first day of practice for the Warrior griders Monday, there were 117 hopefuls on the practice field.

One of Tom Wyrostek's main goals when he took over the football program was to bring up the numbers. The early results look favorable.

"I'm pleasantly surprised, but we can always hope for more," said Wyrostek, beginning his second go-round as a head coach as he takes over for Ron Yates. "We're still two weeks away from school, so we should be getting more kids out here later. I don't care how many want to come out. We'll take the whole school, all 2,200 of them."

The breakdown on Monday was 47 juniors and seniors, 30 sophomores and 40 freshmen. The Warriors are working out at 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. each day, for approximately an hour and a half at both workouts. And Wyrostek and his staff will be able to get in two full weeks of two-a-days because school doesn't start until Aug. 28 (the teachers will start with meetings on Aug. 27).

"Honestly, they didn't come in in the best of shape," said Wyrostek. "It's impossible to get fully in shape by working out by coaches. That's what we'll do this week. We can put the pads on starting Thursday and we'll start hitting Saturday."

The cool weather is allowing Wyrostek to run the players a little longer, although it might heat up towards the end of the week.

Wyrostek will have three varsity assistants this year. He and Bob Stegmeyer will be primarily defensive coaches while Don Harris and Larry Curry (new to the staff) will coach offense.

"With four varsity coaches it will be easier to break the squad in two and have two coaches work with each unit," said Wyrostek. "But we won't limit ourselves to offense and defense. Each coach will be able to help out in any area."

varsity with the kicking game. Gus Lignoul and Al Lewis are the sophomore coaches, while Gene Gunderson and Kurt Hyla (also new to the staff) will coach the freshmen. Terry Yates and Greg Garland are the eighth grade coaches at Coolidge while John Sikora is at Grigsby.

"We need to hire one more for Grigsby," Wyrostek said. "But we're getting things done. The seventh grade program should really help us and the park district has approved a flag football program. Anything that will get more kids playing football can't hurt."

The Warriors, 3-6 last year, open the season at home Aug. 31 against Cahokia in a 7:30 p.m. game.

Although he has plenty of players, Wyrostek said he is looking for managers and trainers. Any students — girls or boys — interested should contact him at the high school.

Madison prospects brighter

By Mike Kelly

MADISON — It's that time of year again. The football equipment has been dusted off and players are going through the dreaded two-a-days.

Through the hard work and the sweat, coaches plan their strategies with the hope that this season will be just a little better than last season. And there's just over two weeks to prepare for the season opener.

That's the situation facing Madison High School coach Don Smith as he begins his eighth season. Following a second straight 2-7 season in 1989, Smith thinks the Trojans' fortunes can be turned around this fall.

"We've got a lot of young kids out for the team this season," Smith said Tuesday, the second day of practice. "The kids have some quickness and they've been working very hard during the first two days of practice. They're showing some promise."

A big reason for Smith's enthusiasm is the number of players out for the team. The Trojans had 30 players out the first few days of practice, and with the addition of a few more, Madison could feature one of its biggest units in many years.

A lot of freshmen are still on vacation with their families," said Smith. "So we expect to pick up some kids once they get back into school. And we've got some veterans returning who should help out cause. Having nine seniors on the team con-

Questions are very many, but answers remain very few Answers are few. Questions are many. Speculation is rampant. Knock yourself out.

Quick, name Mizou's top football recruit. How about the Tigers' quarterback. Can you name any Missouri football player? Maybe it's part of the plan to keep expectations at a reasonable level, but this is one very low-profile program considering that Mizou is only a few weeks from opening day.

Do you think they're getting nervous at Stadium Plaza about all those season-ticket renewal forms that are due back in February 1991?

—Long time no see: What are NFL Partnership honchos Fran Murray and Walter Payton up to these days?

—Just curious: With all of the summer moves and all the high hopes they've generated, how long a honeymoon will fans allow Brian Sutter, and the Blues?

—Let me see if I have this right: Whitey Herzog won a

Dennis Barnidge

World Series title and two National League pennants and had little input with the front office. Torre had a sub-300 managerial record and worked in a television booth for six years and he will have some clout with the front office. If that's so, that's a doozy.

Quiet, please, there are executives at work: The Major Indoor Soccer League recently changed its name to the Major Soccer League. Be still my heart.

Credit where credit is due: Dal Maxvill boosters say their boy is blamed for recent Cardinals' failings, while unfairly being denied any credit for the pennant years. Fine. How much credit should Maxvill, who became general manager in February 1985, get for '85 or '87?

The key offensive players on those pennant winners, in no particular order, were: Vince Coleman, Willie McGee, Ozzie Smith, Jack Clark and Ponder. The top starters were John Tudor, Danny Cox and Joaquin Andujar and the big guys in the bullpen were: Roda Worrell, Jeff Lahti, Ken Dayley and Rick Horton. Maxvill was not involved in bringing any of those players into the organization.

To be fair, Maxvill was the GM when the Cardinals dealt for Jose Oquendo, Tito Landrum, John Morris and Cesar Cedeño in 1985 and for Tony Pena, Dan Driessner and Tim Lincecum in 1987. Also under the Maxvill regime, Steve Lake and Lee Tunnell were signed as free agents and Joe Magrane was obtained in the amateur draft.

Two local players win at park tennis tourney

By Al Barnes
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — Two local players, Joe Markel and Rob Lombardi, won championships last weekend in the 33rd annual Granite City Invitational Tennis Tournament.

The tournament started Saturday and didn't conclude until Monday because of inclement weather on Sunday. Nonetheless, the tournament drew a record field, according to tournament manager John Van Buskirk. No women entered the draw.

Markel won the Boys 12 and Under Singles division by upsetting top seed Alex Reyes 7-6, 6-4. Markel, a seventh-grader at Holy Family, won the first set in a tiebreaker but breezed through the second set. In the same tournament last year, Markel defeated Jimmy Connors' son Bret in straight sets.

Lombardi teamed with Mike Bryant of St. Louis to capture the men's doubles crown by a 7-5, 6-2 score over Mike Kovar and Brad Compton of St. Louis. Lombardi, who graduated from Ambrose (Iowa) College this year with a degree in business, concentrated on doubles during his college career. He and his partner Ron Martin were ranked 16th in the nation by the NIAA his senior year.

The men's singles drew a field of 25 and was won by D.K. Pierson of Rock Island by a 6-3, 6-0 score over Roger Follmer of St. Louis. Follmer, who will be a senior at McCluer North, gave the veteran Pierson a bitter battle early in the first set. But Pierson, using a towering lob, gained control and won easily.

Jason Salmard won the Boys 14 and Under crown by beating Brian Goff 6-4, 7-6 in a hard-fought match. Brent Davidson grabbed the Boys 16 and Under title which drew the second largest field of 22 — by topping Collinsville's Matt Jorgensen 6-0, 6-2. Follmer came back to blast (See TENNIS, Page 2B)

Cheerleaders honored at camp

The Granite City High School varsity football cheerleaders recently returned from a National Cheerleaders Association summer camp workshop.

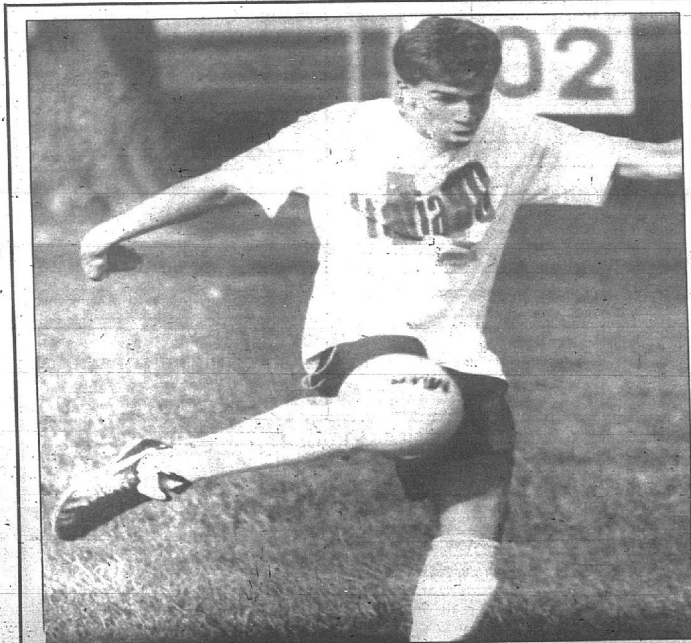

The squad received top recognition in the workshop, held at Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau. The camp attracted more than 400 cheerleaders from surrounding states.

Granite City cheerleaders at the camp were captains Emily Storch and Misty Timko, plus Julia Boyer, Dana Bugnitz, Carrie Hankins, Amy Isom, Shawn Oliver, Gretchen Schuler, Nikki Wolfe and Susan Wyde. The NCA is sponsoring the Staff Award at each of more than 315 workshops across the country. The Granite City squad was selected for that award by the NCA staff for being the squad which exemplified excellence in squad unity, leadership and all-around competition.

The presentation of the NCA Staff Award came at the completion of a full workshop of training on technique, cheers, chants, jumps, partner stunts and pyramids, as well as a leadership program for sportmanship, crowd participation, responsibility, organization and dedication.

The NCA has been conducting summer workshops for more than 40 years, teaching nearly 100,000 students each year on the art of cheerleading.

THREE PLAYERS from Granite City were on the Busch Soccer Club which represented Missouri in the Girls Under 14 Midwest Regional (Region II) in Kalamazoo, Mich., on July 13-17. They were Stacie Dowdy (in front), Harper Mance (left) and Penny Kreher (right). Busch won three games at the tournament, the first a 2-1 win over Kansas. Mance and Dowdy scored in a 3-0 win over Kentucky and Kreher scored in a 2-1 win over Michigan. The Illinois team — based in Palatine — won the tournament with a 5-3 win over Minnesota. Mance and Dowdy will continue to play for Busch, coached by Tom Wade, while Kreher will now play for STLO Sting, coached by Clint Potter of Granite City. The Busch team has been invited to Washington D.C. to play in a tournament this fall.

pared to only having three last year will make a big difference with the younger kids.

"We have an idea of just what to expect this season. We had our kids working on the weights during the winter and that brought out some kids that had never played football before. It's a totally different atmosphere compared to last year. The kids are coming to practice and their attitudes seemed to be straightened out. These kids seem to want to play football. I feel this could be a rewarding season for our program."

Earns performance award

ST. LOUIS — Mary Ann Glosecki of Granite City has received an Outstanding Performance Award from the Defense Mapping Agency Aerospace Center.

This award is given to Aerospace Center employees for consistently exceeding the standard of performance for their position. It is awarded after an evaluation of performance during the previous 12 months.

Located in St. Louis, the center provides worldwide mapping support for the Department of Defense. Its aerospace products are used in flights of all military aircraft, training in aircraft simulators, missile guidance systems and manned space missions.

Screening vital when picking adviser

By Roger McGrath
Correspondent

A Springfield, Mo., couple lost more than $700,000 in risky investments. A 100-year-old retired school teacher in Phoenix lost about $250,000 to bad investments. In both cases, the investors worked with stockbrokers who were not attuned to their investment needs.

In short, they did not do an adequate job of screening candidates, government regulators say.

They did not investigate the brokers' backgrounds or ask questions that would reveal whether the brokers would handle their nest eggs properly.

Selecting the right stockbroker, insurance agent, accountant, tax or estate attorney, or financial planner can be the difference between having a comfortable retirement and living shattered dreams.

The selection process is not that difficult a chore, regulators say.

The best advice is that investors should take charge of their own affairs and not get talked into investing in something they have not investigated, says John Perkins, commissioner of securities for Missouri.

"You should select the stockbroker, not let the stockbroker select you," Perkins says.

Anyone who calls himself a "financial planner," anyone who gives advice on investing and is paid for it, must register with Perkins.

Illinois lawmakers are considering similar legislation, says David Bartholomew, chief deputy director of the Illinois Securities Department in Springfield.

Once you have decided to hire a financial planner or other adviser, make a list of candidates by asking relatives, friends and neighbors to recommend a practitioner.

"You're better off choosing someone you can get a recommendation on," says Nan Nasse, spokesman for the Illinois Department of Insurance.

From that list, select three candidates to interview. Then set up, say, a breakfast meeting "so you can learn what kind of person he is," says attorney Ray Kreienkamp of Husch, Eppenberger, Donohue, Cornfield & Jenkins, St. Louis.

A one- to two-hour discussion should reveal whether an attorney or financial planner is in sync with your objectives, he says.

"We take as long as the guy needs to make sure we understand his problems and he understands how we think," says Terry Altepeter, a partner in the south St. Louis County accounting firm of Altepeter, Galati, Fuesting & Co.

Questions the prospective financial adviser asks will provide a clue to his expertise. If he asks simple, basic questions that do not probe for in-depth information, he probably does not have much experience, Kreienkamp says. If his solutions to your problems sound too good to be true, they probably are, Perkins adds.

The real purpose of a face-to-face interview is to determine if you would be comfortable with this adviser, Perkins says.

Verify credentials

Following is a telephone list that is helpful in verifying credentials of financial advisers:

Attorneys: Missouri Bar Association, membership section, 314-635-4128. Illinois Supreme Court, attorney registration and disciplinary committee, 800-826-8625 (inside Illinois only) or 217-523-6838.

Financial planners: Missouri secretary of state, securities division, enforcement section, 314-751-4704. (Financial advisers do not have to register in the state of Illinois.)

Insurance agents: Missouri Insurance Division, licensing section, 314-751-4126. Illinois Department of Insurance, producer licensing section, 217-785-6366.

Stockbrokers: Missouri Securities Division, enforcement section, 314-751-4704. Illinois Securities Department, registration section, 217-785-4948.

say, "You're going to be entrusting this person with large sums of money," so you will want to feel comfortable about him, he says.

The key question to pose to a financial planner is: How are you paid? If the planner is paid a commission — as most are — he may try to steer you into investment vehicles with the biggest financial reward for him, Perkins says.

Even after you have selected an adviser, monitor your finances, Perkins says. It was such a review that led the 100-year-old teacher, a conservative investor, to discover her broker was putting her money into the highly volatile futures market.

Missouri regulators suggest investors visit the stockbroker's office to see the back office where the paperwork for trades is handled.

"There's a certain amount of gut feeling that goes along with any contract," says Kevin Henao, spokesman for the National Association of Insurance Commissioners in Kansas City. "You can diminish the importance of that gut feeling by doing a little homework."

For example, checking with regulators to make sure an insurance agent and the companies whose products he sells are licensed to do business in Missouri or Illinois. Inquire whether a stockbroker has registered with state authorities and whether he ever has been disciplined.

Also, ask whether a lawyer or accountant is registered to practice in the state.

If your inquiry reveals a disciplinary action, ask the broker to explain.

"You should be comfortable with their explanation of what happened," Perkins says. "Then you'll have to weigh what the person tells you."

Asbestos cleanup business booming

By Roger McGrath
Correspondent

In recent years, the market for asbestos cleanup has been growing 20 percent annually and it is about to get a boost from two quarters — the federal Occupational Safety & Health Administration and the state of Missouri.

The board reaffirmed its decision of April 28, 1989, not to declare a quarterly dividend on the company's common stock.

Regular quarterly dividends for preferred stocks will range from 51 cents a share for 4.08 percent cumulative preferred stock, to $2 per share for 8 percent cumulative preferred stock.

Adjustable rate Series A cumulative preferred stock will receive 75 cents per share and adjustable rate Series B cumulative preferred stock will get 93.13 cents per share.

All dividends declared are payable Nov. 1 to shareholders of record on Oct. 10.

OSHA wants to apply the Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act — the 1985 federal law that mandates all school buildings be inspected for the presence of materials containing asbestos — to all private buildings as well, says Eric Spiras, consulting manager for Spiro Environmental Inc., a St. Louis asbestos abatement firm.

A new Missouri law will go into effect this fall extending asbestos abatement responsibility to homeowners.

Whenever a home built prior to 1980 is renovated, the owner or an asbestos abatement firm registered with the state will have to remove materials containing asbestos. The list includes linoleum tile, vinyl flooring and related glues; sprayed-on acoustical ceilings; and roofing shingles.

Asbestos cleanup is an expanding, multibillion dollar industry nationwide because of concern over the health hazards posed by the one-time "miracle mineral," says John Pagan, manager of asbestos consulting for John Mathes & Associates Inc., Columbia, Ill.

When an asbestos-containing material deteriorates or is damaged, asbestos-containing asbestos fibers enter the air and possibly lungs.

"It's a sinister thing," says Roger Randolph of the Missouri Department of Natural Resources. "People who are exposed today may not contract cancer for 20 years or so."

Before it was banned in the mid-1970s, asbestos — an otherwise excellent insulating and soundproofing material that's fire resistant — had found its way into more than 300 building materials because it was economical, easy to supply, long-lasting and versatile, says Steward Ryckman of REACT, a St. Louis asbestos abatement contractor.

That is why asbestos is found in most school buildings, and why government wants it cleaned up.

Homeowners can remove asbestos-containing materials themselves, but if they batch the job, a registered abatement contractor must be called, she says.

The asbestos abatement business is the fastest growing segment of the hazardous waste industry, Ryckman says.

He estimates the market will not peak for five years "because there are so many buildings" that need to be cleaned up. Illinois, for instance, has more than 7,000 public and private school buildings that need to be inspected.

Unfortunately, many school officials panic when they learn their buildings have asbestos; they order all of it removed when that may not be necessary, says Otto Klein of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Asbestos materials that are in good condition and well maintained, a portion that can reach 40 percent, do not need to be removed, he says.

Instead, these materials can be "encapsulated," or painted or shielded — permanently covered with another material such as plywood.

However, alternative abatement programs are not much cheaper than removal. At $20 per foot, a fairly common price here, removing asbestos-laden insulation from 3,000 feet of boiler and steam pipes would cost $60,000, Klein says. Wrapping the pipe with a special plastic shield would cost 60 percent to 80 percent of removal, he says.

Asbestos abatement is expensive because of the elaborate precautions contractors must take.

The work area must be "cocooned," sealed off from the rest of the world by a plastic tent. A special fan creates negative air pressure inside the cocoon so that, if the plastic is punctured, air will push into the tent, not out.

Other contributors to the high cost of abatement are disposable safety suits, a portable "clean room/dirty room" (where workers strip off safety suits, and then shower when leaving the cocoon), high health insurance costs, plus stringent government regulations, including disposal of the asbestos material at an approved landfill.

Contractors give identical advice to school boards, homeowners and others: Only remove asbestos materials that are deteriorating or damaged. The rest can be "encapsulated."

'Air America' falls short, even for Mel Gibson fans

By Harry Hamm
Staff writer

The makers of "Air America" went to so much trouble authentically re-creating the look of its story that it left out human elements that might have given it engaging substance.

Mel Gibson and Robert Downey Jr. star as two commercial pilots flying cargo planes for Air America in Laos during the Vietnam War. The airline, run as a covert arm of the CIA, transported everything from refugees to weapons. Its primary mission was to support a secret mercenary army in Laos that was fighting the North Vietnamese.

The filmmakers spent lots of money on sets, cast and crew for "Air America," which was shot on locations in Thailand and featured an international crew of technicians. A maintenance staff of 200 supported a fleet of more than 30 different types of aircraft.

But the result of all this devotion to technical aspects of the film is a story devoid of any human interest.

One never is told who Gibson's character is or how he came to work for Air America. Downey's character, a helicopter traffic reporter for an FM rock station in Los Angeles, ends up with Air America after his commercial pilot's license is suspended for flying too low. Aviation is the only way Downey knows how to earn a living so he initially views the Air America opportunity as an exciting adventure. He later finds, to his dismay, that part of the excitement includes the possibility of dying.

The motto of Air America was "Anything, anywhere, anytime." The exploits of Air America were exciting, and in some respects, historic.

But the film, which is not based on the book of the same name by English author Christopher Robb, actually manages to make the flying look routine. Unfortunately, it also provides a flying-buddies story line that will have you saying "Who cares?"

Rated R (language). Running time: 112 minutes. Rating guide:  excellent;  good; * average; * poor.

Harry Hamm is entertainment editor for both KMOX-AM (1120) and the CBS Radio Network.

ROBERT DOWNEY JR. finds himself hanging around in "Air America."

Imagery of '50s sci-fi beats gore

By Mason Wiley
Correspondent

Hot summer nights demand cool entertainment, and there's nothing as chilly as the post-atom-bomb science fiction of the 1950s.

As opposed to today's slimy, drippy special-effects shows, '50s sci-fi movies portrayed mankind's fear of atomic energy with scary imagery — namely monsters that never attempted to merely gross you out. Kids and adults together can view "50s sci-fi, the perfect 'family' entertainment."

No monster was more beloved than Godzilla, who debuted in Japan in 1954 in the ashes of Hiroshima and Nagasaki as "Gjira." Godzilla then conquered the United States two years later as "Godzilla, King of the Monsters" (1956, New Video, $9.95). In the American version, Godzilla's childish tantrums are bracketed by news reports from Raymond Burr ("Perry Mason"), sitting in what looks like a set from the old "Huntley-Brinkley Report."

Giant ants are the stars of "Them" (1954, Warner Home Video, $24.98), with the story line sparked by atomic testing in

New Mexico. One teeny little byproduct of the radioactivity is a colony of huge mutant ants who have big egos to match — they all head immediately for Hollywood. Like so many show-biz sagas, it ends with a fight in the gutter.

At least the "Creature from the Black Lagoon" (1954, Goodtimes Video, $9.95) swims an underwater past de deux with bathing beauty Julia Adams before he is put out of business as all good monsters must be. Robbie the Robot is cute in MGM's lavish "Forbidden Planet," an adaptation of William Shakespeare's "The Tempest," minus the laughs. Anne Francis plays the only female on the planet, an innocent young thing who asks, "What's a bathing suit?"

Paramount shelled out big bucks to update H.G. Wells' "The War of the Worlds" (1953, Paramount Home Video, $14.95), earning an Oscar for special effects. For most of the picture the invading Martians hide out in sleek spaceships resembling modern street lamps as they decimate the cities of the world with a green ray. Only at the end do we see what one of the troubling aliens looks like: a one-eyed octopus with a hangover.

David Hedison doesn't go all gooey as Jeff Goldblum does in the remake of "The Fly," but as the original half-man, half-insect he gives an anguished reading to the line, "Help me, help me!" in the original "The Fly" (1958, CBS/Fox Video, $19.95). James Clavell of "Shogun" fame wrote the screenplay.

The cream of '50s sci-fi isn't about nuclear fear but is based on a Jules Verne fantasy. "Journey to the Center of the Earth" (1959, Warner Home Video, $79.95). Produced and co-authored by Charles Brackett ("Double Indemnity," "Sunset Boulevard"), some of this imaginative underground expedition was filmed on location at Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico.

When not New Mexico, James Mason and crew were cavorting on the fantastic sets on the Fox back lot (including that of the fall of Pompeii). Mason's fellow travelers are Pat Boone and Arlene Dahl.

Mason Wiley is a contributor to GQ, Elle, Time, Premiere, Cosmopolitan and The New York Times.
